Hospital, Rajkot, which indicates that the victim was examined on 10.05.2025, at 10:00 a.m., by Gynecologist, Physician, Psychiatrist, Pediatrician and Radiologist. The medical opinion dated 10.05.2025, which does not mention the name of the victim girl, reads as under;

"1. As per Physician victim have HB level of 9.0 gm% and having moderate anemia. So evaluation and correction of anemia required at present. considering her age and anemia factor victim is high risk for termination of pregnancy at present. However, MTP can be done with due high cardiorespiratory risk after correction of anemia.

2. As per pediatrician victim have gestational age 33 weeks and expected fetal weight is 1.99 kg with young maternal age and anemia termination of pregnancy can lead to fetal complication like prematurity, requirement of Neonatal Intensive Care Unit admission for respiratory distress, anemia, septicemia, and long term sequela of prematurity.

3. As per radiologist victim have average gestational age of 32 weeks 6 days dated on 09/05/2025.

4. As per Psychiatric clinically victim have mild intellectual disability and termination of pregnancy is advisable.

5. As per gynecologist victim have very young age and have 32 weeks and 6 days as per ultrasonography report dated 09/05/2025 by radiology department of PDU Medical college. And victim have 9 cm of HB. Suggestive of moderate anemia. So continuation of pregnancy at this age lead to complication like pre-eclampsia, eclampsia, anemia, premature delivery, caesarian delivery and complication of caesarian delivery like hemorrhage, septicemia, wound infection, post-partum hemorrhage and related complication of anesthesia and possibility of maternal death as per SRS bulletin 2021 volume 56 risk of maternal death is 53 out of 1 lakh live birth in Gujarat. Termination of pregnancy at this stage might lead to failure of induction of labor/delivery, cesarean delivery and its complication like hemorrhage, septicemia, wound infection, post-partum hemorrhage and related complication of anesthesia. Termination of pregnancy could be done after correction of anemia with above mentioned due high risk with consent of legal guardian.

After considering all factor related to very young age of victim advance gestational age and medical condition like moderate anemia and mental condition and low IQ level, continuation of pregnancy will further increases risk of mother. Termination of pregnancy can be done after evaluation and correction of anemia with due high risk of complication of victim related to termination of pregnancy as mentioned above and fatal complication of prematurity after consents of legal guardian."
