Court No. - 73HON'BLE SANDEEP JAIN, J.

1. The present writ petition has been instituted praying for the following reliefs:-

- i. Issue an order or direction in the nature of certiorari quashing the judgment and order dated 27.11.2025 (Annexure No.13 of the writ petition) passed by Commissioner, Varanasi Division, Varanasi in Case NO.3662 of 2025 (Computerized Case No. C202514000003662) and judgment and order dated 06.03.2025 (Annexure No.8 to the writ petition) passed by learned District Magistrate, Chandauli in Case No. 1093 of 2024 (State Versus Vinod Kumar Singh) (Computer Case No. D202414180001093) under section 5(Ka) of Uttar Pradesh Cow Slaughter (Prevention) Act, arising out of Case crime no.100 of 2024, under sections 3/5A/5B/8 of Cow Slaughter Act and section 11 of Animal Cruelty Act, Police Station Shahabganj, District Chandauli;
- ii. issue an order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the courts below not to give effect to the judgment and order dated 27.11.2025 passed by Commissioner, Varanasi Division, Varanasi in Case No.3662 of 2025 (Computerized Case No. C202514000003662) and judgment and order dated 06.03.2025 passed by learned District Magistrate, Chandauli in Case No. 1093 of 2024 (State Versus Vinod Kumar Singh) (Computer Case No. D202414180001093) under section 5(Ka) of Uttar Pradesh Cow Slaughter (Prevention) Act, arising out of Case crime no. 100 of 2024 under sections 3/5A/5B/8 of Cow Slaughter Act and Section 11 of Animal Cruelty Act, Police Station Shahabganj, District Chandauli .
- iii. issue an order or direction in the nature of mandamus directing the concern police of Police Station Shahabganj to release the vehicle no.UP65 KT-4942 Tata ACE GOLD in favour of petitioner which is standing in the campus of Police Station Shahabganj, District Chandauli and deteriorated day by day."

2. Counter affidavit and rejoinder affidavit have been exchanged between the parties.

Facts of the Case

3. The factual matrix, as borne out from the record, is that the petitioner is the registered owner of a Tata Ace Gold Diesel transport vehicle bearing Registration No. UP-65-KT-4942. According to the prosecution, on 19.09.2024, acting upon secret information received from an informer, the police personnel of Police Station Sahabganj, District Chandauli intercepted the aforesaid vehicle on suspicion that bovine animals were being illegally transported from the State of Uttar Pradesh to the State of Bihar for the purpose of slaughter. Consequently, Case Crime No.100 of 2024 was registered against the petitioner under Section 11 of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, 1960 and Sections 5, 3/5-A/ 8 of the Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act of 1955").

4. The case of the State is that upon search of the vehicle, three bovine animals (2 cows and 1 calf) were allegedly recovered, which were being transported in contravention of the provisions of the Act of 1955 with the intention of taking them to the State of Bihar for slaughter. On the basis of the aforesaid allegations, proceedings for confiscation of the vehicle were initiated by the District Magistrate, Chandauli under the provisions of Section 5-A(7) of the Act of 1955.

5. A notice was accordingly issued to the petitioner, calling upon him to show cause as to why the vehicle in question should not be confiscated in favour of the State Government.

6. In response to the said notice, the petitioner filed his detailed objections before the District Magistrate. It was specifically pleaded that the allegations levelled by the police authorities were wholly false, fabricated and contrary to the material available on record. The petitioner asserted that only one cow and one calf were being transported in the vehicle, both of which belonged to one Radhey Shyam, who had sold the said animals to one Kalluram for a consideration of Rs.2,000/-, and the petitioner was merely transporting those animals to the residence of Mantosh. It was further pleaded that the destination of the vehicle was entirely within the State of Uttar Pradesh and there was no intention whatsoever of transporting the animals to the State of Bihar or for the purpose of slaughter.

7. The petitioner further alleged that while the vehicle was on its way, it was intercepted by the police personnel, who demanded illegal gratification from the driver. Upon refusal to accede to such unlawful demand, the vehicle was falsely implicated and seized. It was also specifically pleaded that, contrary to the allegations contained in the First Information Report, only two bovine animals were present in the vehicle, whereas the police had falsely shown recovery of three animals solely to strengthen an otherwise unsustainable prosecution case.

8. The District Magistrate, however, did not accept the explanation offered by the petitioner. While relying principally upon the report of the Veterinary Officer dated 19.09.2024, the District Magistrate concluded that the bovine animals had been transported in a cruel manner, thereby attracting the provisions of Section 5-B of the Act of 1955. The District Magistrate further held that in view of the statutory presumption contained in Section 5-A(10) of the Act of 1955, the burden lay upon the petitioner to establish that the transportation was not for the purpose of slaughter, and according to the District Magistrate, the petitioner had failed to discharge the said burden.

9. The District Magistrate further recorded a finding that in view of Section 5-A(1) of the Act of 1955 read with Rule 16(1) of the Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Rules, 1964, prior permission in the form of permit, was mandatory for transportation of bovine animals, which admittedly had not been produced by the driver at the time of interception. Proceeding on the aforesaid reasoning, the District Magistrate presumed that the bovine animals were being transported for slaughter in violation of the statutory provisions and, accordingly, by order dated 06.03.2025, confiscated the petitioner's vehicle in favour of the State Government.

10. Aggrieved thereby, the petitioner preferred Appeal No.3662 of 2025 (Vinod Kumar Singh v. State of U.P. and others) under Section 5-A(8) of the Act of 1955 before the Commissioner, Varanasi Division, Varanasi. In the memorandum of appeal, the petitioner reiterated all the submissions which had been advanced before the District Magistrate and specifically contended that the confiscation proceedings were founded merely upon assumptions and conjectures without any legally admissible evidence demonstrating that the animals were being transported either outside the State or for the purpose of slaughter.

11. The appellate authority, however, concurred with the findings recorded by the District Magistrate. It held that the petitioner had failed to substantiate his defence through cogent evidence and, consequently, dismissed the appeal by order dated 27.11.2025, affirming the order of confiscation.

12. Being aggrieved by the orders dated 06.03.2025 passed by the District Magistrate, Chandauli and 27.11.2025 passed by the Commissioner, Varanasi Division, Varanasi, the petitioner has invoked the extraordinary jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

Submissions of learned counsel for the parties

13. Learned counsel appearing for the petitioner submits that both the impugned orders suffer from manifest illegality, patent arbitrariness and complete non-application of mind.

14. It is contended that there is not an iota of evidence on record to establish that the cow and its progeny were being transported to the State of Bihar or that the transportation was intended for the purpose of slaughter. The authorities have proceeded merely on conjectures by drawing an inference solely because the vehicle was intercepted in District Chandauli, which shares its boundary with the State of Bihar. Such an inference, according to the learned counsel, is wholly speculative and unsupported by any admissible evidence.

15. It is further submitted that neither any beef nor any remains of slaughtered cow were recovered from the vehicle. Equally, no material has been brought on record to indicate that any slaughterhouse was the intended destination of the vehicle or that any overt act suggesting an intention to slaughter the animals had been committed by the petitioner.

16. Learned counsel further submits that the confiscating authority has completely misread the provisions of the Act of 1955 and the Rules framed thereunder. It is argued that no permit or permission is required for transportation of cow and its progeny within the territorial limits of the State of Uttar Pradesh, and this legal position has consistently been affirmed by this Court in a catena of decisions. Consequently, the entire foundation of the confiscation proceedings is contrary to the statutory scheme.

17. It is next submitted that the petitioner's vehicle constitutes his sole source of livelihood. The vehicle had been purchased by availing financial assistance from HDB Financial Services Limited, under a loan agreement requiring repayment in 41 monthly installments (EMIs) of Rs.12,599/- each. Learned counsel submits that even after seizure of the vehicle, the petitioner, despite acute financial hardship, continued to repay the loan installments up to November, 2025 solely to minimise the mounting financial liability. Thereafter, owing to the continued confiscation of the vehicle and consequent loss of income, the petitioner became financially incapable of servicing the remaining loan liability, resulting in default of the balance instalments.

18. It is, therefore, argued that the illegal confiscation of the vehicle has not only deprived the petitioner of his principal means of livelihood but has also subjected him to severe financial distress, mental agony and economic hardship. Consequently, apart from quashing the impugned confiscation orders, the petitioner also claims compensation towards the loss of earnings suffered during the period of illegal confiscation, together with damages for the mental harassment, humiliation and financial hardship caused by the arbitrary action of the State authorities.

19. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has supported the impugned orders and submitted that the confiscation proceedings have been conducted strictly in accordance with the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955.

20. It is contended that the vehicle of the petitioner was intercepted while carrying cow and its progeny without any valid permission as contemplated under the provisions of the Act of 1955 and the Rules framed thereunder. According to the learned AGA, the petitioner failed to produce any authorization or permit permitting transportation of the cow and its progeny, thereby attracting the statutory consequences envisaged under the Act.

21. It is further submitted that the place of interception, namely District Chandauli, is situated on the border of the State of Bihar. Considering the route adopted by the vehicle and the surrounding circumstances, the competent authorities rightly inferred that the cow and its progeny were being transported outside the State of Uttar Pradesh for the purpose of slaughter. Such a factual inference, according to the learned AGA, cannot be interfered with by this Court in exercise of its writ jurisdiction.

22. Learned AGA has also argued that the Veterinary Officer's report clearly demonstrates that the cow and its progeny were being transported in a manner causing unnecessary pain and suffering, thereby attracting the provisions of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, 1960 as well as Section 5-B of the Act of 1955. It is, therefore, submitted that the confiscation order cannot be faulted.

23. Lastly, it is submitted that once the confiscation has been validly made under the statutory provisions, the petitioner is not entitled to claim any compensation on account of alleged loss of livelihood or financial hardship. The State cannot be saddled with monetary liability merely because the petitioner remained deprived of the use of the vehicle during the pendency of confiscation proceedings. It is thus prayed that the writ petition, being devoid of merit, deserves to be dismissed.

Conclusion of this Court

24. I have heard learned counsel for the parties at length and have carefully perused the pleadings exchanged between them, the impugned orders and the material available on record.

25. In order to appreciate the rival submissions advanced by the learned counsel for the parties, it would be appropriate to first examine the relevant statutory provisions governing the controversy.

26. Accordingly, Sections 5, 5-A and 5-B of the Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Act, 1955 read with Rule 16 of the Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Rules, 1964 are being reproduced hereinafter:

"5. 27. Further, this Court in the case of Kaliya vs. State of UP And Others 2023 SCC OnLine All 1974, held as under:-

"10. Having heard learned counsel for the petitioner, learned A.G.A. and going through the record as well as provisions of the Act, I find that the moot question involved in this case is whether the present petitioner has violated any provision of law in transportation of cows and its progeny by the aforesaid vehicle and whether the impugned orders have been passed confiscating the said vehicle in accordance with law.

11. ***

12. A perusal of section 5-A(1) of the Act shows that the said provision shall come into place when the cow or its progeny is transported from within the State of U.P. to any other place outside the State and in that case, permit issued by the authorised officer of the State government shall be required.

13. There is nothing on record to show that the alleged recovered animals, i.e. the cows were being transported from within the State of U.P. to any other State. Therefore, from the plain reading of section 5-A of the Act, the permit is not required in the peculiar facts of this case.

14. The question involved in the case in hand has also come up for consideration before this court in Kailash Yadav v. State of U.P. 2008 (10) ADJ 623 wherein it has been held that no permit is required for transportation of cow or its progeny within the State of U.P. Section 5-A(6 to 8) provides for confiscation and release of vehicle by which beef or cow and its progeny is transported in violation of the provisions of the Act and relevant rules.

15. From perusal of sub sections (1 to 5) of section 5-A of the Act and the law laid down by this court in Kailash Yadav's case (supra), it is evident that there is no need of permit to transport cow(s) and its progeny within the State of U.P. Hence, such transportation of cow and its progeny cannot be said to be in violation of the Act.

Consequently, it can also not be said that the seized vehicle has been used in violation of Section 5-A or any other provision of the Act. Therefore, the police has no power or jurisdiction to seize or confiscate the vehicle in question and the District Magistrate also could not have issued notice under section 5-A of the Act when there is nothing to substantiate that the animals were being transported from within the State to some other State. In other words, in case the animals were being transported within the State of U.P., no show cause notice under section 5-A of the Act could have been given.

16. A coordinate Bench of this Court vide judgment and order dated 25.8.2022 passed in Mohd. Shakib v. State of U.P. Application under section 482 CrPC No. 23143 of 2021 has held that no permit is required to transport cow and its progeny within the State of U.P. and therefore, it cannot be said that the seized vehicle in question was used in violation of section 5A(1) to (11) or any provisions of the Cow Slaughter Act. Relevant paras 12 and 13 of the judgment in Mohd. Shakib's case (supra) is reproduced as below:

“12. Now, it is to be considered whether permit is required for transportation of the cow or its progeny within the State of Uttar Pradesh. This question came up for consideration before this Court in Criminal Revision No. 131 of 2005 (Kailash Yadav v. State of U.P., 2008 (10) ADJ 623), wherein it is held that no permit is required for transportation of cow or its progeny within the State of Uttar Pradesh. Sub-section 5A (6 to 8) provides for confiscation and release of vehicle by which beef or cow and its progeny is transported in violation of the provision of this Act and the relevant rules. Sub-section 5A (6 to 8) reads as follows:-

(6) Where the said conveyance has been confirmed to be related to beef by the competent authority or authorised laboratory under this Act, the driver, operator and owner related to transport, shall be charged with the offence under this Act, unless it is not proved that the transport medium used in crime, despite all its precautions and without its knowledge, has been used by some other person for causing the offence.

(7) The vehicle by which the beef or cow and its progeny is transported in violation of the provisions of this Act and the relevant rules, shall be confiscated and seized by the law enforcement officers. The concerned District Magistrate/Commissioner of Police will do all proceedings of confiscation and release, as the case may be.

(8) The cow and its progeny or the beef transported by the seized vehicle shall also be confiscated and seized by the law enforcement officers. The concerned District Magistrate/Commissioner will do all proceedings of the confiscation and release, as the case may be.

13. From the perusal of sub-section (1 to 5) of Section 5A of this Act and the law laid down by this Court in Kailash Yadav v. State of U.P. (supra), it is abundantly clear that there is no need of permit to transport cow and its progeny within the state of Uttar Pradesh. Therefore, transportation of a cow and its progeny within the state of Uttar Pradesh is not a violation of any of the provisions of the Cow Slaughter Act. Therefore, it cannot be said that the seized vehicle in question was used in violation of Section 5A (1) to (11) or any provisions of the Cow Slaughter Act, and therefore, police has no power or jurisdiction to seize or confiscate the vehicle in question. The District Magistrate, Varanasi has passed the impugned confiscation order dated 18.08.2021 in contravention of the law, as no permit is required to transport cow and its progeny within the state of Uttar Pradesh. In above circumstances, the impugned order dated 18.08.2021 passed by District Magistrate, Varanasi is without jurisdiction and the same is liable to be set-aside. Likewise, the revisional court has not considered the relevant provisions of Section 5A of Cow Slaughter Act while dismissing the criminal revision of the applicant, therefore, the impugned order dated 13.10.2021 passed by Special Judge (SC/ST Act), Chandauli is also against the provisions of law and is liable to be set-aside."

28. Similarly, this Court again in the case of Munib vs. State of UP and 2 others 2024 SCC OnLine All 9631 held as under:-

"12. Thus transportation of cow etc. is regulated by Section 5A and Section 5A(7) confers power upon the District Magistrate/Commissioner of Police to confiscate the vehicle by which the beef or cow and its progeny is transported in violation of the provisions of this Act and the relevant Rules. A perusal of the F.I.R. indicates that none of the cow were maimed nor physically injured. Further, the allegation that they were being transported to West Bengal from Prayagraj for slaughtering requires no consideration as the condition precedent for the application of the section is that the cattle described in the Act should have been transported from any place in the State of U.P. to any place outside the State. Even if the story of seizure of cattle is believed then also 06 cattle are said to have been seized within the jurisdiction of Police Station Lalganj District Mirzapur namely within the State of Uttar Pradesh and admittedly, the border is far away. The fact remains that cattle were apprehended from within the State of U.P. and, therefore, it cannot be said that they were transported to a place outside the State of U.P.

13....Commission of offence is one of the requisite ingredients for passing an order of confiscation and an order of confiscation should not be passed automatically. Thus, there is no material, as exist on record, to justify the exercise of powers under Sub Section 7 of Section 5A. The same is clearly contrary to the mandates and powers conferred upon the District Magistrate.

14. The confiscation by its very connotation implies depriving a person of his property to which he is entitled to retain. Article 300A of the Constitution of India provides that no person shall be deprived of his property save by authority of law. Arbitrary confiscation of the property which he might be using for his trade, profession or occupation is a serious encroachment on the fundamental right of a citizen under Article 19(1)(g) of the Constitution of India to carry on his trade, occupation or business. The procedure prescribed by law for confiscating the property as contained in Section 5A(7) of the Cow Slaughter Act, empowers the District Magistrate/Commissioner of Police to confiscate/seize the vehicle only if the conditions so prescribed under Sub Section 7 of Section 5A are fulfilled."

29. Upon a careful examination of the statutory provisions and the material brought on record, this Court finds that the principal question requiring determination is whether there existed any legal material before the confiscating authority to conclude that the cow and its progeny were being transported outside the State of Uttar Pradesh for the purpose of slaughter.

30. This Court finds that the answer must necessarily be in the negative. It is not in dispute that the petitioner's vehicle was intercepted within the territorial limits of District Chandauli. The entire reasoning adopted by the confiscating authority proceeds on the assumption that since Chandauli shares its border with the neighbouring State of Bihar, the cow and its progeny must necessarily have been intended to be transported into the State of Bihar for slaughter. Such a conclusion is founded merely upon conjectures and surmises and is wholly unsupported by any independent evidence. The existence of an international or inter-State boundary by itself cannot constitute proof of illegal transportation. Unless there exists positive and cogent evidence indicating that the destination of the vehicle was outside the State of Uttar Pradesh or that the transportation was intended for slaughter, no such presumption can legally be drawn merely because the vehicle happened to be intercepted in a border district.

31. The authorities have failed to produce any material whatsoever indicating the intended destination of the vehicle. Neither any statement of the driver nor any documentary evidence nor any independent witness has been relied upon to establish that the animals were being transported to the State of Bihar.

32. The findings recorded by both the authorities, therefore, are based entirely upon assumptions rather than legally admissible evidence. Equally significant is the fact that no beef, or remains of any slaughtered cow and its progeny were recovered from the vehicle. The Veterinary Officer conducted medical examination of the recovered animals on 19.09.2024. A perusal of the veterinary report, which has been placed on record by the petitioner himself, clearly reveals that one cow and one calf were medically examined and both were found to be healthy. The report nowhere records that the animals had sustained any injury or were being transported in such a condition so as to indicate cruelty within the meaning of law.

33. Therefore, the submission advanced by the learned A.G.A. that the Veterinary Officer found the animals in an unsafe, injured or mutilated condition is factually incorrect and stands completely belied by the medical report itself. The confiscating authority has further relied upon Rule 16 of the Uttar Pradesh Prevention of Cow Slaughter Rules, 1964 to hold that transportation without permit was impermissible. This finding also cannot be sustained.

34. A plain reading of Rule 16 leaves no room for ambiguity that the requirement of obtaining permit is attracted only where cow and its progeny are proposed to be transported from any place within the State of Uttar Pradesh to any place situated outside the State. The Rule does not require any permit for transportation of bovine animals from one place to another within the territorial limits of Uttar Pradesh. This Court has consistently interpreted the said Rule to hold that no permit or permission is required for transportation of cow and its progeny within the State of Uttar Pradesh, and the confiscating authority has completely overlooked the settled legal position.

35. Consequently, the very foundation upon which the confiscation order has been passed is contrary to the statutory scheme. The reliance placed upon the presumption contained in Section 5-A(10) of the Act of 1955 is equally misconceived. The statutory presumption contemplated therein is not automatic. Such presumption arises only in circumstances specifically provided under the statute, particularly where beef or cow remains are recovered and laboratory examination confirms the prohibited substance.

36. Admittedly, in the present case, neither any beef nor any remains of slaughtered cow and its progeny were recovered from the petitioner's vehicle. The foundational facts necessary for drawing the statutory presumption are, therefore, completely absent. In absence of those foundational facts, the burden never shifted upon the petitioner. Consequently, both the authorities have committed a manifest error of law in invoking the statutory presumption against the petitioner.

37. Viewed from any angle, this Court finds that the confiscation proceedings suffer from patent illegality, complete non-application of mind and misinterpretation of the statutory provisions. The impugned orders are based on assumptions unsupported by evidence and cannot withstand judicial scrutiny.

38. Accordingly, the order dated 06.03.2025 passed by the District Magistrate, Chandauli and the appellate order dated 27.11.2025 passed by the Commissioner, Varanasi Division, Varanasi deserve to be quashed.

39. The matter, however, does not end with setting aside the confiscation orders. The petitioner has specifically pleaded that the vehicle in question constituted his sole source of livelihood. The said assertion has not been specifically denied by the respondents. The materials placed on record further demonstrate that the vehicle had been purchased by availing financial assistance from HDB Financial Services Limited and that the petitioner was under a contractual obligation to repay monthly instalments of Rs.12,599/-. The loan statement brought on record along with the rejoinder affidavit clearly indicates that despite confiscation of the vehicle, the petitioner somehow managed to continue repayment of the loan till November, 2025.

40. Thereafter, owing to complete deprivation of income resulting from the illegal confiscation, he became incapable of servicing the remaining loan liability. The inevitable consequence of the illegal action of the State has been that the petitioner remained deprived of his only source of income for a substantial period without any legal justification. Article 21 of the Constitution protects not merely life but also the right to livelihood.

41. The Apex Court in the case of Nilabati Behera (Smt.) Alias Lalita Behera(Through The Supreme Court Legal Aid Committee) vs. State of Orissa and Others (1993) 2 SCC 746, held as under:-

“34. The public law proceedings serve a different purpose than the private law proceedings. The relief of monetary compensation, as exemplary damages, in proceedings under Article 32 by this Court or under Article 226 by the High Courts, for established infringement of the indefeasible right guaranteed under Article 21 of the Constitution is a remedy available in public law and is based on the strict liability for contravention of the guaranteed basic and indefeasible rights of the citizen. The purpose of public law is not only to civilize public power but also to assure the citizen that they live under a legal system which aims to protect their interests and preserve their rights. Therefore, when the court moulds the relief by granting “compensation” in proceedings under Article 32 or 226 of the Constitution seeking enforcement or protection of fundamental rights, it does so under the public law by way of penalising the wrongdoer and fixing the liability for the public wrong on the State which has failed in its public duty to protect the fundamental rights of the citizen. The payment of compensation in such cases is not to be understood, as it is generally understood in a civil action for damages under the private law but in the broader sense of providing relief by an order of making ‘monetary amends’ under the public law for the wrong done due to breach of public duty, of not protecting the fundamental rights of the citizen. The compensation is in the nature of ‘exemplary damages’ awarded against the wrongdoer for the breach of its public law duty and is independent of the rights available to the aggrieved party to claim compensation under the private law in an action based on tort, through a suit instituted in a court of competent jurisdiction or/and prosecute the offender under the penal law.

35. This Court and the High Courts, being the protectors of the civil liberties of the citizen, have not only the power and jurisdiction but also an obligation to grant relief in exercise of its jurisdiction under Articles 32 and 226 of the Constitution to the victim or the heir of the victim whose fundamental rights under Article 21 of the Constitution of India are established to have been flagrantly infringed by calling upon the State to repair the damage done by its officers to the fundamental rights of the citizen, notwithstanding the right of the citizen to the remedy by way of a civil suit or criminal proceedings. The State, of course has the right to be indemnified by and take such action as may be available to it against the wrongdoer in accordance with law — through appropriate proceedings. Of course, relief in exercise of the power under Article 32 or 226 would be granted only once it is established that there has been an infringement of the fundamental rights of the citizen and no other form of appropriate redressal by the court in the facts and circumstances of the case, is possible....”

42. The Apex Court again in the case of Sube Singh vs. State of Haryana and Others (2006) 3 SCC 178 (By three Judges), held as under:-

"38. It is thus now well settled that the award of compensation against the State is an appropriate and effective remedy for redress of an established infringement of a fundamental right under Article 21, by a public servant. The quantum of compensation will, however, depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. Award of such compensation (by way of public law remedy) will not come in the way of the aggrieved person claiming additional compensation in a civil court, in the enforcement of the private law remedy in tort, nor come in the way of the criminal court ordering compensation under Section 357 of the Code of Criminal Procedure."

43. Similarly, the Apex Court again in the case of Indibily Creative Private Ltd. And Others vs. Government of West Bengal And Others (2020) 12 SCC 436, has granted compensation for consequential financial losses caused by State authorities. In this case the petitioner has suffered violation of fundamental rights under Articles 19(1)(a) & (g), 14 and 21. The respondent State authorities were directed to pay compensation of Rs 20 lakhs, which was a huge amount. The relevant para is extracted hereinbelow:-

“52. As a consequence of the pulling off of the film from the theatres where it was screened on 16-2-2019, the petitioners have suffered a violation of their fundamental right to free speech and expression and of their right to pursue a lawful business. This has been occasioned by the acts of commission and, in any event, of omission on the part of the State in failing to affirm, fulfil and respect the fundamental freedoms of the petitioners. We are clearly of the view that a remedy in public law for the grant of remedial compensation is required in the present case. We order and direct the respondents to pay to the petitioners compensation which we quantify at Rs 20 lakhs within a period of one month from the date of the present judgment.”

44. It is apparent that whenever the instrumentalities of the State, by arbitrary and illegal exercise of statutory powers, deprive a citizen of his legitimate means of earning his livelihood, the constitutional courts are fully empowered to award compensation in exercise of their public law jurisdiction. Compensation in such cases is not merely restitutive but also serves as a constitutional remedy against arbitrary exercise of State power.

45. Having regard to the facts of the present case, the nature of the vehicle, the admitted repayment of substantial monthly loan installments and the ordinary earning capacity of a commercial transport vehicle, this Court is of the considered opinion that the petitioner's monthly loss of income can reasonably be assessed at Rs.20,000/- per month.

46. Accordingly, the petitioner shall be entitled to compensation at the rate of Rs.20,000/- per month from 19.09.2024, i.e., the date of seizure of the vehicle, till the actual date on which possession of the vehicle is restored to him.

47. Apart from the financial loss, the petitioner has also suffered avoidable litigation, mental harassment, financial distress and unnecessary hardship solely because of the arbitrary and illegal action of the authorities. This Court, therefore, considers it appropriate to award an additional sum of Rs.25,000/- towards compensation for mental agony, harassment and avoidable litigation suffered by the petitioner.

48. Accordingly, the writ petition succeeds and is allowed with the following directions:

(i) The order dated 06.03.2025 passed by the District Magistrate, Chandauli confiscating the petitioner's vehicle and the appellate order dated 27.11.2025 passed by the Commissioner, Varanasi Division, Varanasi are hereby quashed.

(ii) The respondents are directed to release the petitioner's vehicle bearing Registration No. UP-65-KT-4942 forthwith, if not required in connection with any other case, preferably within one week from the date of production of a certified copy of this judgment.

(iii) The respondents shall pay to the petitioner compensation calculated at the rate of Rs.20,000/- per month from 19.09.2024 till the date of actual release of the vehicle.

(iv) The respondents shall further pay a consolidated amount of Rs.25,000/- to the petitioner towards compensation for the mental agony, financial hardship and unnecessary harassment suffered by him on account of the illegal confiscation.

(v) The aforesaid amount shall be paid within one month from the date a certified copy of this judgment is produced before the competent authority.

(vi) In the event of failure to comply with the aforesaid directions within the stipulated period, it shall be open to the petitioner to seek appropriate legal remedies available in law for enforcement of this order.

(vii) Since the confiscation has been found to be wholly illegal and arbitrary, it shall be open to the State Government to hold an appropriate departmental inquiry and, if responsibility is fixed upon any officer for the illegal exercise of statutory power, to recover the amount of compensation paid to the petitioner from the officer(s) found responsible, strictly in accordance with law and after complying with the principles of natural justice.
