Respected Office Bearers,

We are writing, as members of Supreme Court Bar Association, to request the Supreme Court Bar Association to consider adopting a resolution expressing its concern and disapproval of the display of political and numerical strength/mob by Mr. Rahul Gandhi and his thousands of supporters arrived at the Hon'ble Court in large numbers in connection with the filing of his petition Diary

No.64196/2026 titled " Rahul Gandhi versus Election Commission of India".

There can be no dispute that every citizen has the constitutional right to approach the Hon'ble Supreme Court for the enforcement of their legal rights. However, the exercise of this right must be accompanied by due regard for the dignity, independence and institutional sanctity of the judiciary. The mobilisation of a thousand of political supporters and doing rally and street march towards Supreme Court will create indirect pressure on Hon'ble Judges and the same would be against the Rule of Law.

The Hon'ble Supreme Court is a constitutional court and a forum for the administration of justice, not a platform for demonstrating political influence, financial power or numerical strength. The filing of a petition must remain a legal process governed by constitutional principles, established procedures and the merits of the case.

Article 14 of the Constitution of India guarantees equality before the law and equal protection of the laws. Further, the independence of the judiciary is a basic feature of the Constitution. These foundational principles require that every litigant, irrespective of political position, public stature, financial resources or the number of supporters at their command, must be treated equally before the law.

If such practices are allowed, influential litigants may in future may arrive at court premises with convoys of vehicles and hundreds/ thousands of supporters to display political and numerical strength and exert indirect pressure on the judiciary. The filing of a petition before the highest constitutional court of the country must never resemble the filing of an election nomination accompanied by a political procession. Such practices, if not condemned at the outset, may spread to High Courts and District Courts, where rallies and mass mobilisations could be used to intimidate the judiciary and influence judicial proceedings. Access to justice must rest on the rule of law and constitutional principles, not on political power, public spectacle or numerical superiority and mobocracy.

It is the larger constitutional principle that the dignity and independence of the judiciary must remain above political considerations, mobocracy and demonstrations of power. Any conduct/ act that risks creating an impression of pressure upon, or undue influence, over the judicial institution, deserves to be discouraged, irrespective of the political party, individual or organisation concerned.

In these circumstances, We, as member of Supreme Court Bar Association, respectfully request the Supreme Court Bar Association, as a representative body of the legal fraternity practising before the highest Court of the country, to adopt a suitable resolution expressing its concern and unequivocal disapproval of any display of political, financial or numerical strength/mob that may undermine, or create an appearance of undermining, the dignity, independence and impartiality of the judiciary.

Such a resolution would reaffirm the Association's commitment to constitutional values, equality before the law, judicial independence and the rule of law. It would also send a clear message that the legal fraternity will not remain indifferent to practices that risk converting the solemn process of seeking judicial remedies into a public demonstration of influence or power. The resolution should be framed as a matter of institutional principle and should apply equally to all individuals, political parties and organisations, without discrimination or exception.

A timely and principled stand on this issue would reinforce public confidence in the judiciary and reaffirm that, in a constitutional democracy, no individual is above the law, no political formation is greater than the Constitution, and no display of mob or financial strength can stand above the majesty of justice.

Yours faithfully,
