THIS WRIT APPEAL HAVING COME UP FOR ADMISSION ON 02.08.2023,
THE COURT ON THE SAME DAY DELIVERED THE FOLLOWING:

ALEXANDER THOMAS & C. JAYACHANDRAN, JJ.

W.A. No. 820 of 2023
[arising out of the Judgment dated 23.02.2023
in W.P. (C)No.33790/2022]
-----

Dated this the 2nd day of August, 2023

JUDGMENT

C. Jayachandran, J.

The Kerala State Road Transport Corporation ('KSRTC' for short) and its Managing Director are the appellants. Under challenge in this Writ Appeal is the judgment of the learned Single Judge in W.P(C)No.33790/2022, which directed the appellants to remit the employees' and employer's contribution to the National Pension Scheme and the contribution to State Life Insurance Policy and Group Insurance Accounts to the respective heads within a period of six months from the date of the judgment, that is 23rd February 2023. The contention of the appellant-Corporation (respondent in W.P(C)) was essentially based on the poor financial conditions of the Corporation to remit the amounts due under the various heads, including the National Pension Scheme. The learned Single Judge found that, there is no justification in not remitting the amounts to the National Pension Scheme, once the employees' contribution to the same has been deducted from their salary.

2. Having heard Sri. Deepu Thankan, learned Standing Counsel for the appellant/Corporation and Sri.T.R.S.Kumar, learned counsel on behalf of the respondent/employees and perusing the records, we find no tenable ground to interfere with the judgment impugned of the learned Single Judge. Sri. Deepu Thankan, essentially focused on the following aspects. Firstly, the learned counsel espoused the financial plight of the Corporation, which has been detailed in the counter affidavit preferred to the writ petition. Apart from the same, the learned counsel argued that, the National Pension Scheme contemplates an arrangement for delayed payment of contribution, after deduction from the salary, together with interest at the stipulated rate. Therefore, the intervention of the learned Single Judge was not necessary. Another aspect pointed by the learned counsel is that, the petitioners have not reached the age of retirement and there is no room for any apprehension on their part. According to the learned counsel, the petitioners could have waited, especially when they are fully aware of the poor financial situation of the Corporation. The 3rd ground urged is that, the directions of the nature contained in the order impugned would persuade other employees, who are similarly situated, to approach this Court, which would completely devastate the financial management of the Corporation, which is even otherwise in turmoil. All the above grounds were refuted by the learned counsel for the respondent/employees.

3. we find little merit in any of the grounds urged by the appellant/Corporation. The primary aspect which weigh with us, is the fact that the appellant-Corporation had effected deduction from the salary of the employees' towards their contribution to the National Pension Scheme, the non remittance of which could not be justified on any legal premise. As rightly held by the learned Single Judge, once such deductions are effected, the Corporation is statutorily bound to remit the same to the Contributory Pension Scheme. Non-remittance of the said funds, after effecting the deduction, could obviously indicate diversion of the same for some other purposes of the Corporation, which action can hardly be justified. The Corporation inheres no right to meet its financial obligation by utilizing the employees' contribution to the National Pension Scheme. Therefore, even if the financial plight propounded by the Corporation is liable to be considered, the same could not provide any justifiable ground for non-remittance of the employees' contribution to the National Pension Scheme.

4. Coming to the ground of a provision in the National Pension Scheme mulcting the liability to pay interest on the belated payment of the employees' contribution, we fail to understand as to how the said provision can be espoused as a right to delay the payment of the employee's contribution to the respective head. The provision can only be in the nature of a penalty to the Corporation by stipulating payment of interest for the delayed amount. Moreover, it does stand to reason that the Corporation, which is stated to be in financial doldrums, will effect payment together with interest, in which situation the Corporation will have to shoulder a larger financial responsibility. So also, we do not find any merit, in the ground that the petitioners could have afforded to wait, since they are not due for retirement. Such a ground cannot be pressed into service to wriggle out of a statutory obligation, especially when the employees' contribution is admitted to have been deducted. The final ground of the likelihood of similarly situated employees' approaching this Court also does not commend to us.

5. We find to no infirmity or illegality in the judgment impugned of the learned Single Judge, so as to interfere with the same. We reject the appeal, however, granting a further period of six months from the date of receipt of a copy of this judgment, for the Corporation to effect the payments specifically referred to in Paragraph No.5 of the impugned judgment.
